July 20, 2019, Morrison, Colorado - Leah Pritchett buzzed her “Angry Bee” Mopar Dodge 1320 Top Fuel dragster all the way to the No. 2 starting position heading into elimination rounds on Sunday at the 2019 Dodge Mile-High NHRA Nationals Presented by Pennzoil at Bandimere Speedway near Denver.

Pritchett, No. 1 qualifier last year at Denver, came oh-so-close to repeating that feat during an impressive qualifying outing in which steadily improved her performance in each session. Pritchett collected two bonus points on Friday and added another pair for being second-quickest in Q3 on Saturday with a 3.816-second elapsed time at 318.77 mph.

An hours-long rain delay pushed the final qualifying session to late Saturday evening, with 72-degree track temps providing prime conditions for posting low numbers. The Don Schumacher Racing (DSR) driver took full advantage, uncorking a 3.761-second elapsed time at 315.19 mph, which briefly earned Pritchett the pole before she was knocked down a spot.

The defending Top Fuel champ at Denver, Pritchett banked six bonus points in qualifying and will draw Terry Totten in round one as she attempts to take her “Angry Bee” to a second consecutive win on “Thunder Mountain.”

Tommy Johnson Jr. was quickest of a pack of six Mopar Dodge Charger SRT Hellcat drivers to make the Sunday field at Bandimere Speedway. The event is marking the 31st year with FCA US title-rights support, the longest continuous running sponsorship in NHRA and one of the longest in all of motorsports.

Johnson moved his DSR Make-A-Wish Dodge Charger SRT Hellcat Funny Car up seven spots in his first qualifying shot on Saturday, rising from No. 13 to the sixth spot. In the final qualifying session, Johnson recorded his quickest run of the weekend at 3.978/317.72 to lock down the No. 2 position and earn two bonus points. A two-time runner-up at Bandimere Speedway, Johnson will look to capture his first Denver win starting with an opening-round date with Jeff Diehl.

Two-time Funny Car World Champion Cruz Pedregon soared to the provisional No. 1 spot in his Mopar-powered Snap-On Dodge Charger SRT Hellcat Funny Car on Friday evening thanks to a pass of 4.002 seconds at 317.42 mph. Pedregon maintained his spot after the first qualifying session on Saturday, but was shuffled down the ladder during the final session and denied his shot to reclaim the pole after more rain showers prevented Cruz and three other drivers from making their final qualifying passes. He will start third on Sunday.

That same fate befell NAPA Dodge Charger SRT Hellcat driver Ron Capps. Second quickest in Funny Car on Friday on the strength of a 4.005/316.97 pass, Capps struggled in Q3 and was hoping to move back up the ladder in Q4 until rain washed away any chances of a No. 1 spot. He settled for the No. 4 spot and will meet Todd Simpson in round one

Sporting brand-new graphics with his 2020 Dodge Charger SRT Hellcat Widebody Funny Car, Matt Hagan jumped from No. 8 after the first day of qualifying up to the fifth position with a run of 4.054/283.07 in Saturday's first session. Hagan struggled in Q4 and wrapped up qualifying in the seventh slot. Winner at the most recent NHRA event in New Hampshire, Hagan will face DSR teammate Jack Beckman in the opening round as he seeks back-to-back wins, and his first ever on "Thunder Mountain."

No. 14 after Friday's two sessions, Beckman climbed the qualifying charts to put his Infinite Hero Foundation Dodge Charger SRT Hellcat in the tenth spot. Jim Campbell will race his Charger SRT Hellcat from the No. 12 spot and meet Bob Tasca III in round one.

Dodge//SRT Mopar Notes & Quotes: NHRA Mello Yello Drag Racing Series:

Leah Pritchett, Mopar Dodge 1320 Top Fuel Dragster

Qualified No. 2, will face No. 15 Terry Totten

Friday: (4.213 seconds at 213.87 mph – Q1); (3.839/321.35 – Q2)

Saturday: (3.816/318.77 – Q3); (3.761/315.19 – Q4)

"We're feeling awesome going into race day. The Dodge Mopar mountain magic is definitely showing its face. It's awesome to have three solid runs out of four. We've been chipping away at it. We were a little light on the front end, which made it exciting to drive on that final round. We went into Q4 either smoking the tires or going for low E.T., and we were just a couple thousandths behind (No. 1 qualifier) Steve Torrence at half-track, and we feel good. Things are coming together. The fans have been out of this world, and the team has done a phenomenal job. We can't wait for Sunday, race day. These moments of running quick passes in challenging conditions are what we live for. We're looking forward to running well on the mountain and going rounds on Sunday like we know how to do."

Tommy Johnson Jr., Make-A-Wish Dodge Charger SRT Hellcat Funny Car

Qualified No. 2, will face No. 15 Jeff Diehl

Friday: (7.235 seconds at 89.20 mph – Q1); (6.619/97.96 – Q2)

Saturday: (4.091/300.86 – Q3); (3.978/317.72 – Q4)

"It's tough to run up here and Friday proved that. Everybody struggled to try and get a handle on the tune-up. Luckily, we were able to get four qualifying runs in with the rain showers and refine the tune-up and get a handle on it. Tonight's Q4 run was probably in a little bit better conditions than we'll see tomorrow but it's going to be close. It's supposed to be nice and cool tomorrow. I was a little worried about running (E1) at 11:00 a.m. because we don't have any data from 11:00 a.m., but this will be close. I'm excited. We hit the tune-up pretty good on that last run and we should have a solid car for tomorrow."

Ron Capps, NAPA Auto Parts Dodge Charger SRT Hellcat Funny Car

Qualified No. 4, will face No. 13 Todd Simpson

Friday: (5.245 seconds at 141.71 mph – Q1); (4.005/316.97 – Q2)

Saturday: (6.925/91.27 – Q3); (No Run – Q4)

"I always feel good going into race day, no matter the conditions. But, this has been an adverse weekend as far as crew chiefs and having to adapt. We saw super-hot temperatures Friday, and then Saturday, we had a storm come in, the temperature dropped and then the rain came in again and it just got pushed back to where the last two pairs of cars didn't get to run in Funny Car. We were hoping to get a shot at the track after watching a couple of cars go 3.97, and we didn't get that chance and ended up finishing fourth. But, no matter what, (crew chief Rahn) Tobler will be on it, and I just have to do my job, and hopefully, we'll have another good weekend."

Matt Hagan, Mopar Dodge Charger SRT Hellcat Widebody Funny Car

Qualified No. 7, will face No. 10 Jack Beckman

Friday: (4.324 seconds at 232.43 mph – Q1); (9.089/80.22 – Q2)

Saturday: (4.054/283.07 – Q3); (13.239/76.54 – Q4)

"We'll take it; top-half of the field, lane choice. It's always tough up here on the mountain but we've got a new look and a new feel to the car and we'll get after it tomorrow on race day."

Jack Beckman, Infinite Hero Dodge Charger SRT Hellcat Funny Car

Qualified No. 10, will face No. 7 Matt Hagan

Friday: (7.389 seconds at 93.95 mph – Q1); (7.299/101.90 – Q2)

Saturday: (4.151/296.96 – Q3); (4.099/308.92 – Q4)

"We've been racing each other early far too much this year, and that's just a by-product of one of us qualifying in the bottom half. I wish I could say 'we've got lots of data to comb over tonight to figure this out for tomorrow,' but we don't have hardly any Denver data to comb over. And, conditions tomorrow will be radically different than they were at 10:00 p.m. tonight. We have data from last year. We ran well in different conditions. We're going to have to go back and lean on some of that stuff. But I'll tell you what I'm proud of. Friday night, this thing went out there and broke the x-member out of the chassis and could've really affected our race car chassis. The guys did some welding, did some parts replacement, rescaled the car, and we came out here Saturday and went out down the track two times."
